ABSTRACT

This English-to-Creole and Creole-to-English glossary is part of a four-volume set designed to teach Belizean Creole to Peace Corps volunteers. Common Creole words which do not occur in English and words that occur in both languages but with different meanings are included. The glossary is intended to serve as a guide to pronunciation of common Creole words, to increase the student's vocabulary, and to provide a periodic reference source. (RW)

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I want to express my appreciation and gratitude to a number of people for their contributions in making this work possible. Although my name appears on the cover -- and I assume full responsibility for any shortcomings the Belizean Creole Handbooks might have -- it was certainly a team effort. Without the others the job would never have begun, let alone been completed. I want to sincerely thank:

Miss Elona Arnold, who left her home and family in Belize for five months to work in the States as my full-time Creole language consultant. She not only taught me Creole, she also ended up doing much of the typing, and had to put up with me day in and day out.

The Experiment in International Living, whose organization made it all possible, especially the P.C. Language Materials Development Project Staff: Ray Clark, Andy Burrows, Susan McBean, Pat Moran, Susan Leuchter, Nancy Hendricks, and the other language material writers: Annie Hawkinson, Thom Heubner, Steve Trussel, Dave Hopkins, Steve Hanchey and Tim Francis.

The Peace Corps, for providing the funds for the project.

Dr. Colville Young, for reviewing these materials and sharing his dissertation with me and letting me copy it, as well as for the wealth of information I gleaned from it.

Victoria, Lucas, and Nicholas for their love, support, encouragement, and patience while the work was in progress.
